The KPA commanding officers and all the participants hardened their resolve to fulfill their important obligations in implementing the Party's military policy, looking up to Kim Jong Un who convened the enlarged meeting on the historic 60th anniversary of the slogan "A-match-for-a-hundred" set forth by President Kim Il Sung, in order to provide an important milestone for building a powerful army and clarify the orientation for the revolutionary military and political activities of the DPRK armed forces.
Kim Jong Un, general secretary of the Workers’ Party of Korea and president of the State Affairs of the Democratic People’s Republic of Korea, paid a congratulatory visit to the lodging quarters of generals of the Korean People’s Army on February 7 on the occasion of the 75th birthday of the KPA.

He expressed belief that the KPA, the armed forces of the WPK and the vanguard of the class, would brilliantly defend the dignity and greatness of the powerful country and people with the irresistible strength peculiar to it by invariably inheriting the red soul, the noble mission, the staunch revolutionary spirit and the fighting spirit of death-defying resistance cherished by the first generation of the revolution with arms.

Kim Jong Un, general secretary of the Workers’ Party of Korea and president of the State Affairs of the Democratic People’s Republic of Korea, made a speech at a banquet for celebrating the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Korean People’s Army on February 7.

Comrade generals, commanding officers of the heroic Korean People’s Army present in this significant place,

Today is the 75th birthday of our army.

At this moment when I recollect the proud history of the KPA, which has written an epic of glorious tradition, brilliant victory and honour in the long course of struggle spanning 27,395 days since the day when its birth was welcomed with cheers, I remember the unforgettable names and images of the service personnel of the preceding generations who devoted themselves to defending the vigorous advance of the ever-victorious Korean revolution and boosting the invincibility and mightiness of our state.

I also remember the images of all the service personnel of the KPA firmly standing on the front-line, border and other posts and socialist construction sites to defend the eternal prosperity of the motherland and the well-being and happiness of the people even at this moment of glory this evening.

Upon authorization by our Party and government, I pay high tribute to the anti-Japanese revolutionary forerunners who provided the origin of the tradition of victory immortal in the history of the hard-fought struggle of the revolutionary armed forces, and to the fallen soldiers of the People’s Army, the respected veterans and the army commanding officers of the preceding generations who passed away.

I also extend warm congratulations to all the officers and men of the KPA and the armed forces of the DPRK through you, commanding officers and generals at all levels present here.

My best wishes and heartfelt thanks also go to all the people including officers’ wives who have absolutely supported and encouraged our Party’s line of building a powerful army and its defence policy, sent their beloved husbands and children to the posts of national defence and devoted themselves to strengthening the defence capabilities of the country.

The respected Comrade Kim Jong Un said that such a heroic and patriotic army remaining faithful to its cause as the KPA can be found nowhere else in the world and everybody knows its devotion to defending the Korean revolution without any vacillation despite the harsh challenges, and hoped that the officers and men of the KPA, who have always gone to the trouble of overcoming hardships, would celebrate their holiday deservedly, proudly, honourably and significantly amid the blessings of all the people today, the day of army founding, even though it is one day.

He further said:

Comrade generals and officers and men of the People’s Army,

What force drives the unprecedentedly arduous Korean revolution, what makes our state invincible and how will our ideal and future be shaped?

The most veritable answer to this and the fairest appreciation by history are found in the 75-year history of our army.

The more we look back on how our revolutionary cause has been defended, how our Party’s ideas and lines have been safeguarded and how our national flag has fluttered at the peak of honour in the turbulent history, the more we value the precious blood shed by our army officers and men for victory and their countless feats.

In the initial period after its founding, our army made clear its inherent mission of sharing the destiny with the Party and started a long bloody journey to remain faithful to it. This constituted a key factor that made our history of army building be the one that can never be separated from the history of struggle of the Party, the revolution, the country and the people, and enabled its 75-year history to be recorded in the grandest way.

A history of righteous strength was made on this land, proving through a hard-won victory the truth that the dignity and honour are only given to the strong and the validity of the revolutionary cause is verified only through victory, and independence and self-sufficiency are only guaranteed by self-reliance in defence.

The army of the Party, the army of the people, the army of the government and the army of the class which defends and realizes everything the dearest and most urgent to our destiny and future, and the army that shoulders hardships before anyone else and is ready to make sacrifices—these are the precious names that our People’s Army has won at the cost of blood and lives and that should be maintained from one century to the next and from one generation to the next.

What we value more than anything else and are fully proud of today is the fact that the baton of the revolutionary army of the Party, the history and tradition of loyalty, has been steadily carried forward.

As our army cherishes a noble view of life that there is only honour on the road of sharing the destiny with the Party and carrying out its orders, I have thought of our army when the situation of the country is difficult and entrusted it with greater tasks of struggle, and our army has never hesitated to respond to the Party’s call.

When I am determined to share the destiny with our army, feeling the greatest honour of being the Supreme Commander who leads such a laudable army, I feel the greatest delight.

Lots of changes have been made and the appearance of our army has changed beyond recognition for a long period since its early days, but the looks of our faithful army, which always stands firmly in the van of the revolution, come rain or shine, and shoulders the heavy burden that no one can dare to do, remain unchanged.

Its succeeding as well as its pioneering were so great that our army was able to win the fulfilling call of the times and history as the strongest army in the world.

Kim Jong Un said that our army’s gallant, dignified, strong and resolute looks are a trait peculiar to it based on the extraordinary pride and strong self-respect that its life is devoted to the greatest sacred cause and its arms serve the most righteous cause in the world, and the display of an irresistible might unique to our army that comes from the unusual sense of responsibility and superhuman will that it can neither be broken nor fall until it has fulfilled the duty entrusted by the Party Central Committee.

Noting that the appearance of our state growing more powerful and stronger in the face of hardships and ordeals is a mirror of the fighting army and the names of the heroic service personnel shine along with the peak of the dignity of our people, he said with pride. He continued: There are hundreds of countries and not a few armies boasting of their long history and traditions in the world, but it is only the KPA that shares life and death with the Party, the country and the people, adds to their prestige and greatness and defends their high honour and rosy future in the whole course of its development.

He declared that the DPRK has finally cultivated a great and absolute strength, overcoming indescribable pains and sufferings for the sake of the eternal peace, genuine prosperity and development on this land and for the good of the coming generations.

He said that the KPA should brave trials as always, holding higher the slogans “Let the People’s Army take charge of both national defence and socialist construction!” and “When the Party is determined, we can do anything!” He went on to say:

I never doubt that you will be as brave as always, dedicating your lives to the eternal prosperity of the country and the wellbeing of the people, true to the letters written on the glorious military colours.

Affirming that I will always share life and death, weal and woe with you, I entrust you and our People’s Army with the forefront of the revolution.

I wish all of you good health and hope that you will become commanding officers making selfless and devoted efforts for the good of our soldiers.

Ientrust you with our officers and men. Let us all redouble efforts and work harder to strengthen and develop our army and to achieve the prosperity and development of our socialist country.

I hope, with my hand on my heart, that the wellbeing of the people and the peace of the country will be promoted in proportion to the efforts made by the KPA.

I would like to propose a toast to the health of army generals present here and to the health of the officers and men of the entire army, to the glory of the KPA and to the eternity of its great honour.

Long live the Korean People’s Army, an ever-victorious heroic army!

Women form the majority of the employees of the Sinuiju Textile Mill situated in the capital of North Phyongan Province.

To them, the mill is not merely a workplace buzzing with smooth sounds of machines. Cultured and hygienic working conditions and environment instil in them delight of labour and ensure greater successes.

The Sinuiju Textile Mill produced many labour innovators last year, too. Nine workers overfulfilled their economic plans for three years ahead of schedule and 31 workers for two years.

Women workers of the mill celebrate 113th anniversary of the March 8 International Women’s Day with their labour achievements.
What is particularly eye-catching is the hostel set up in 2020.

In June 2018 the respected Comrade Kim Jong Un visited the mill and learned in detail about the living conditions of the workers. Saying he was told that the hostellers of the mill were so envious of the hostels at the Pyongyang Kim Jong Suk Textile Mill and the Pyongyang Kim Jong Suk Silk Mill provided by the Party, he promised them a hostel as wonderful as those in Pyongyang. Then he personally appointed a site for the hostel and took a measure to send a powerful construction force.

The hostel is a dear home for girl weavers. On the first floor of the hostel are the rooms for cultural activities and sci-tech learning, a library, a clinic and others.

Along with bedrooms arranged from the second to the seventh floor, a cooking practice room is found on every floor, where the girls learn cooking skills for their after-marriage life. At mealtimes, the girls invite each other to taste the dishes they have made.

In the morning they leave the hostel full of laughter and optimism as well as determination to make fresh innovations, and come back proudly after overfulfilling daily assignments.

Not only hostellers but all other women employees of the mill are helping one another to achieve great labour successes.

Kim Ki Ryong from Ponbu Kindergarten in Sinuiju “Exciting Flower-viewing” (Second prize)

“We Are Going to Dreamland” (Second prize) Ri Ju Gang from Changgwang Kindergarten

This is the second time for the boy to participate in the exhibition. Since he was four, he used to draw pictures on the walls of his house, whenever he found a pencil. So the walls were re-pasted again and again. His father working at the Sinuiju Chemical Fibre Factory said that his son’s aptitude for drawing was cultivated by the kindergarten teachers, although he thought it as a mere pleasure of the boy.

He has many dreams about future; he wants to be an architect, a paduk ace, and even an excellent archer. His parents said that he became self-possessed and cheerful since he learned drawing. He won prizes in the national sketch festival and the contest of kindergarten children with talents. The credit goes to Jong Yong Ae, his kindergarten teacher, they added.
He is calm and cool. He is always surrounded with his kindergarteners watching him drawing. Though his parents wanted him to take music lessons, his kindergarten teacher Cha Un Ha found out his giftedness for drawing and developed it. His parents wish his bright future as an excellent painter.

Kim Yong Bok, kindergarten teacher, used to draw pictures in the recess between classes to arouse the children’s curiosities and develop them. It made the boy have a liking for drawing. His grandmother said she was worried about the boy’s dislike for drawing in the past, but these days she found difficulty providing him with drawing papers.

Rimagongsu Falls

The Rimyongsu Falls cascades down over the edge of a cliff to the right of the Rimyongsu Valley, which was created through basalt erosion in the wake of a volcanic eruption on Mt Paektu a million years ago. It is in nine principal parts with myriad of splashes in between, making it look like a compound of cascades.

The waterfall, which looks like a roll of silk, dashes on rocks, sending up silvery sprays of meteoric water drops, then splits into several courses and again form one stream, before falling into the artificial lake of the Rimyongsu Barrage.

In the dead of winter it is half frozen and half tumbling, a veil of gauzy mist caused by underground water hovering nearby and frostwork presenting a scene of superb beauty.
Jagged rocks protruding from the splashes, crystal-clear water at the base of the waterfall and primordial forests afford wonderful views. Seasonal variation of its scenes is great, too.
