Fierce matches, unexpected change in rankings

By Han Kwi Hun PT

The first-class volleyball games-2023 (first round) that started at the Volleyball Gymnasium on Pyongyang’s Chongchun Street on June 1 ended on June 14. First-class teams at home, including the April 25, Amnokgang and Pyongyang, took part in the games.

The rankings of male teams were decided on through two rounds of league matches and level-specific league matches and those of female teams done by putting together the scores made in two rounds of league matches.

This time points were added to the scores gained by services. It was aimed at encouraging players to enhance their technique of service, according to Kim Hong Suk, a staffer of the Ministry of Physical Culture and Sports.

Fierce matches

As predicted by experts and fans, male and female players of the April 25, which is recognized as a strong team at home, achieved the highest scores in the first round of league matches. They took the initiative in the first round of league matches to win victory after victory.

After unexpectedly beating the Kigwancha males, the third in the standings, the Pyongyang males also defeated the Amnokgang, the second in the standings, thus taking the second place in the round. Then, the Pyongyang lost the match with the Sobaeksu, failing to take the first place.

After being defeated by the Pyongyang, the Amnokgang found its form to display its ability. As a result, the April 25, Amnokgang and Pyongyang took the first, second and third places respectively in the first round, thus taking part in the second round of league matches.

Another match between the Amnokgang and the Pyongyang in the second round was really fierce. Players of the Amnokgang, who had been beaten by those of the Pyongyang in the first round of league matches, played with a sense of oppression in the first round of the match, the opponents looking superior. Then the Amnokgang tied the score 22-22 and the players of both teams displayed their abilities to the maximum.

The Amnokgang won the match to make up for its previous defeat. Women’s matches were also fierce. In particular, the match between the Pyongyang and the April 25 in the second round of league matches was really thrilling. After drawing 2-2, the two teams had the exciting fifth round of the match where the Pyongyang retained its strong points by means of double quick spike and the April 25 depressed its opponent by dint of quick movements based on false pass and strong smashing from the position of No. 4.

Unexpected change in rankings

The nearly 15-day games ended as the level-specific league matches finished after the match between the Sobaeksu and the Amnokgang on June 14.

In the male competition the April 25 and Amnokgang took the first and second places respectively in the games. The Sobaeksu took the third place to the surprise of spectators.

Before the beginning of the matches, experts and fans predicted that there would be an unexpected change in the rankings but they never thought the Sobaeksu was a dark horse.

With a shift in generation among its players, the team consisted of those aged between 19 and 22 who had little experience and were imperfect in physical preparedness. Thus the team ranked fifth during the competitions held in 2020 and 2021 and the team regarded it as success that it took the fourth place last year.

The team took the third place for the first time in the spring national sports festival-2023 this year. After the games were over, experts congratulated the team for its success, recognizing that now it is not a newly emerging team but a promising one.

The female players who achieved success this time were those of the Pyongyang. The players, who had ranked between the third and fourth places, beat the Amnokgang, taking the second place at the current games. And the April 25 won the first place.
